

General By-Laws of the Canadian Paediatric Orthopaedic Society

Revised and Approved January 2024

Edited to reflect renaming from Canadian Paediatric Orthopaedic Group (CPOG) to Canadian Paediatric Society (CPOS)

Article I & II (Objectives)

The name of the organization shall be the Canadian Paediatric Orthopaedic Society (hereafter referred to as CPOS).

CPOS Objectives:

- To provide a collaborative forum for orthopaedic surgeons in Canada whose practices have a substantial interest in the management of paediatric orthopaedic conditions.
- To facilitate and stimulate the academic and scientific exchange of ideas and thoughts between these individuals.
- To promote and support discovery science, epidemiologic, economic and clinical paediatric orthopaedic research within CPOS by individuals, single sites and multi-centre collaboration.
- To promote excellence in paediatric orthopaedic care in Canada by developing and disseminating evidence-based best practice guidelines and by developing and offering educational products for paediatric orthopedic trainees, practitioners and the public.
- To coordinate the pediatric orthopedic curriculum at the Canadian Orthopedic Association (COA) Annual Meeting.

Article III (Membership)

Membership

- To apply for any category of membership, applicants must complete the application form from the CPOS website's membership page. The completed application should be sent to CPOS@canorth.org. It is then forwarded to the CPOS President and to the CPOS Finance and Governance Committee. This committee will review the application and submit their recommendation to the CPOS Executive who will then vote on the applicant. Approval is 50% plus one.
- Members of all categories of membership are not required to be members of the COA.
- Full active membership is offered to orthopaedic surgeons who 1) Completed training in an approved program in orthopaedic surgery. 2) Obtained certification by RCPSC or equivalent as accepted by COA. 3) Practices full-time orthopaedic surgery in Canada or USA and who devote a minimum of 50% of their practice to the management of paediatric orthopaedic conditions.
- Affiliate membership is offered to the following individuals:
